DON'T
RE-ELECT
ERIC OR ANDREW FOR MAYOR

How it started

POLITICS

Anti-Adams, Anti-Cuomo Voters Have a D.R.E.A.M.

DREAM

How it's going

POLITICS

A Stunning Number of Voters Didn't Rank Andrew Cuomo for Mayor

By Nia Prater, Intelligencer staff writer, who covers New York politics

BETTER THINGS ARE POSSIBLE

'The ultimate guerilla hating campaign:' DREAM helped beat Cuomo. So what's next?

'We were harnessing a different part of being a New Yorker, which is being a huge hater.'

June 24, 2025, 10:43 p.m. ET
Maya King

As election results show Mamdani with a lead, the DREAM campaign that implored voters not to rank Cuomo declared victory. The movement, which stands for Don't Rank Evil Andrew for Mayor, said in a statement on Tuesday that it "defined the race, aligned the field and turned what could have been a wonky ranking strategy into a message blanketing the city."

DREAM BIG

The Little Super PAC That Could (Stop Andrew Cuomo)

The folks behind DREAM will never be able to outspend the would-be mayor of New York City. But they believe their fresh approach to campaigning might give them an edge.

Supporters of Zohran Mamdani cheered election results at a Democratic Socialists of America watch party on primary night.

With Mamdani, Left Looks to Expand Influence

Share of ballots that ranked each candidate, regardless of position

Candidate	Share	Number of ballots
Zohran Mamdani	59.6%	640,340
Brad Lander	58.9	632,911
Adrienne Adams	54.0	579,587
Andrew Cuomo	45.7	490,400
Zellnor Myrie	40.1	430,611

The "don't rank" campaign was so successful that Brad Lander and Adrienne Adams, two candidates who received far fewer first-choice votes than Mr. Cuomo, were ranked on more ballots overall than the former governor.

Opponents of Mr. Cuomo, who had resigned as governor in scandal, ran an unusual campaign urging voters to leave him off their ballots altogether. They called it DREAM, or Don't Rank Evil Andrew for Mayor. It appears to have had success. Although Mr. Cuomo placed second overall in the race, 54 percent of voters did not put him on their ballots at all. These voters were concentrated in Manhattan and the parts of Brooklyn and Queens closest to it, like Williamsburg, Astoria and Brooklyn Heights.

SHOE-LEATHER DEPT.

A NEW PROGRESSIVE RALLYING CRY: "DON'T RANK EVIL ANDREW!"

In New York's Democratic mayoral primary race, Andrew Cuomo's lead is slipping, and Zohran Mamdani is pulling ahead. Is the DREAM campaign working?

By Joel Goldfine
June 16, 2025

DREAM

We won the battle...

54%
of voters followed the DREAM strategy and Didn't Rank Cuomo.

75,274
New Yorkers voted using the DREAM ballot– more than WFP, AOC, or any single candidate

Sold $50,000+ of DREAM merch that popularized the message, with clothing worn by politicians, influencers, models, and celebrities, and stickers that covered the city

From 0 to 7000+ Instagram followers, 1800+ Twitter followers, 800+ Bluesky followers all while regularly ratioing Cuomo and his crews' tweets

Brad Lander's race-shaping cross-endorsement
specifically cited DREAM, as did Michael Blake

200+ media hits, including TV, radio, regular NY Times mentions, and a New Yorker profile

Multiple viral videos spread DREAM strategy and popularized key anti-Cuomo talking points like MTA ski resort funding and suing for gynecological records, which quickly found their way to candidates' broadcast ads

DREAM

Total Media

Dollars Spent

DREAM
$90,000

FIX THE CITY
$24,000,000

14:1
Return on ad value for every dollar given to DREAM; 10:1 is considered highly effective in marketing

32M
Impressions

394k
Engagements

$1.3m
Equivalent Spend

Result

DREAM spent
$1.19 per vote

Fix the City spent
$87 per vote

DREAM

... But the war is just beginning

New Yorkers DREAMed, but Andrew Cuomo isn't gone, and neither is Eric Adams.

And while early polling lulls Zohran supporters into believing the job is done, the billionaires are mobilizing to prevent a Mamdani mayoralty.

WHAT WE'RE UP AGAINST

MONEY
MORE THAN EVER

Billionaires and MAGA donors spent $25 million trying to buy the Democratic Primary, but Zohran and DREAM beat them.

So now they're going to spend even more. At the current rate, we could see $100 million to sabotage Zohran.

July 10, 2025 05:07 PM | 25 MINUTES AGO

New anti-Mamdani PAC looks to raise $25M

NICK GARBER

Christopher Robbins
@ChristRobbins

A new anti-Mamdani super PAC is forming—this time from hedge funder and Trump voter @rsandler21969, who pledged $500K of his own cash.

Wanna join his Zoom call on how to stop @ZohranKMamdani?

You'll need to pony up at least $25K:

'Anybody but Mamdani': 5 Groups Emerge to Raise Millions in Attack Funds

POLITICS · NEW YORK CITY

Bill Ackman's 'hundreds of millions of dollars' in NYC mayoral race goes to Eric Adams—'ready to go to battle, guns blazing' against Zohran Mamdani

BY CHRISTIAAN HETZNER
SENIOR REPORTER

July 3, 2025 at 7:55 AM EDT

Billionaire hedge fund manager Bill Ackman endorsed scandal-plagued New York City mayor Eric Adams on Wednesday, while calling on disgraced former governor Andrew Cuomo to drop out. The Wall Street speculator wants to prevent a Zohran Mamdani victory in November.

POLITICS

GRIND UP THE GEARS

The billionaires are closing ranks on all sides, working with the Governor to block taxes while threatening to take their money with them unless Zohran rolls over.

With Trump openly on their side, anything from candidates dropping out to full-on-fascist lawfare is on the table.

POLITICS

Can Zohran Mamdani Make Nice With New York's Billionaires?

Zohran Mamdani Better Get Ready To Fight The NYPD

Wall Street oligarchs aren't the only ones ringing the alarm against the people's mayoral candidate. That's the sound of the police

Mamdani Talks 'Intifada', Taxes in Grilling by Business Leaders

Zohran Mamdani urged to keep Jessica Tisch as NYPD Commissioner

Cuomo Tells Business Leaders He Doesn't 'Personally' Want to Fight Trump

Former Gov. Andrew M. Cuomo's remarks about President Trump came just before The Times's disclosure that he had spoken to Mr. Trump about the race.

Zohran Mamdani's policies face a big obstacle: Gov. Kathy Hochul

METRO

Gov. Hochul says she's not ready to back Zohran Mamdani for NYC mayor yet — slamming his plan to tax the rich

Cuomo and Trump, Two 'Queens Boys,' Go Way Back

President Trump has urged Andrew Cuomo to stay in the New York City mayor's race. Here are seven moments when their paths crossed over the years.

Hochul declines to endorse Mamdani, mispronounces his name

The governor is the de facto head of the state Democratic Party, but she's not so sure about the Democratic nominee for NYC mayor.

Gov. Kathy Hochul is not yet endorsing Democratic mayoral nominee Zohran Mamdani. DON POLLARD/ OFFICE OF GOVERNOR KATHY HOCHUL

MEDIA MANUFACTURING CRISES

If we don't seize the narrative, the billionaires will. Just ask Brandon Johnson or Bill de Blasio.

Editorial boards from right wing Murdoch mouthpieces to "respected" outlets like the New York Times are working overtime to discredit Zohran and his mandate (ask us about our local news interview).

Every second he spends talking about what they want him to talk about is a second he isn't pushing the agenda over half a million New Yorkers voted for. We must win the war for the attention economy, and force the media to cover what it should cover.

Mamdani Identified as Asian and African American on College Application

Zohran Mamdani, the Democrat running for mayor of New York City, was born in Uganda. He doesn't consider himself Black but said the application didn't allow for the complexity of his background.

New York Shooting Puts Mamdani on the Spot Over Policing Views

Killing of four people, including an NYPD officer, highlights potential weakness for the democratic socialist Mamdani Once Claimed to Be Asian and African American. Should It Matter?

Zohran Mamdani's responses on a 2009 college application were criticized by his mayoral rivals. The blowback was dismissed by his supporters as a politically motivated attack.

Mamdani's Success Spotlights a Deepening Rupture Among U.S. Jews

While Zohran Mamdani won over some Jewish supporters, other Jewish Democrats suggested that concerns about their community's safety are being dismissed in a movement and a city they helped build.

Josh Shapiro and Rahm Emanuel Fault Zohran Mamdani Over 'Intifada' Line

Two top Jewish Democrats, Gov. Josh Shapiro of Pennsylvania and former Mayor Rahm Emanuel of Chicago, criticized Mr. Mamdani for not condemning those who use the slogan "globalize the intifada."

In a shift, Mamdani tells business leaders he will discourage use of the phrase 'globalize the intifada,' sources tell CNN

Is the New York Times trying to wreck Zohran Mamdani's mayoral bid?
Margaret Sullivan

Mamdani's Delicate Quest to Become New York City's First Muslim Mayor

As he leans into his Muslim faith, Assemblyman Zohran Mamdani's positions on the Israel-Gaza war have drawn criticism from across the political spectrum.

THE PLAN

FIGHT OLIGARCHY IN THE GENERAL...

The real threat isn't Eric or Andrew but the billionaires backing their campaigns and funding the anti-Zohran SuperPACs. Recent polls show that Zohran's opponents have reached their ceiling of support, so their only real path to victory relies on driving Zohran's negatives up. This is something that SuperPACs excel at.

That's where we come in.

Using the creativity and tactics that made "Don't Rank Cuomo" the rallying cry of the primary, DREAM will inoculate voters by shining a spotlight on who is funding Adams, Cuomo, and the anti-Zohran efforts. With anti-billionaire sentiment at an all-time high, we know we'll find a receptive audience.

...AND BEYOND

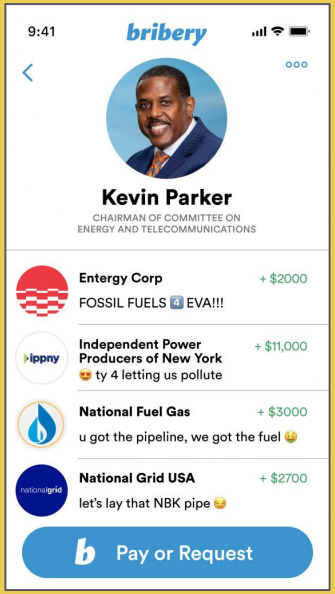

Winning the general is only the beginning. Implementing Zohran's agenda will require us to take on and win fights at every level of government, in every election cycle, and everything in between, starting with the Tax The Rich 2026 campaign that's already underway. Whether it's Governor Hochul, Hakeem Jeffries, Jessica Tisch, Stephen Miller, Bill Ackman or even Donald Trump, DREAM is the ideal vehicle to unite NYC's unlimited hater energy.

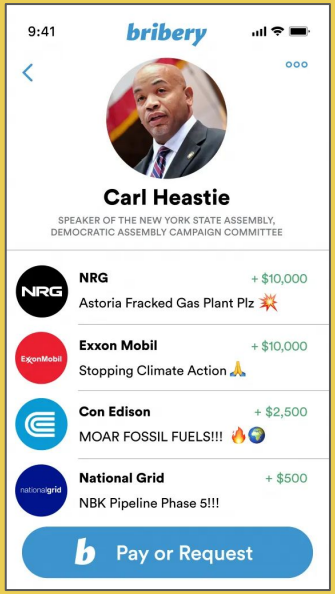

Having run a number of campaigns against elected officials at every level of New York government, we've developed a playbook for using the media to cut New York's most powerful down to size.

The only limit will be our resources to do it.

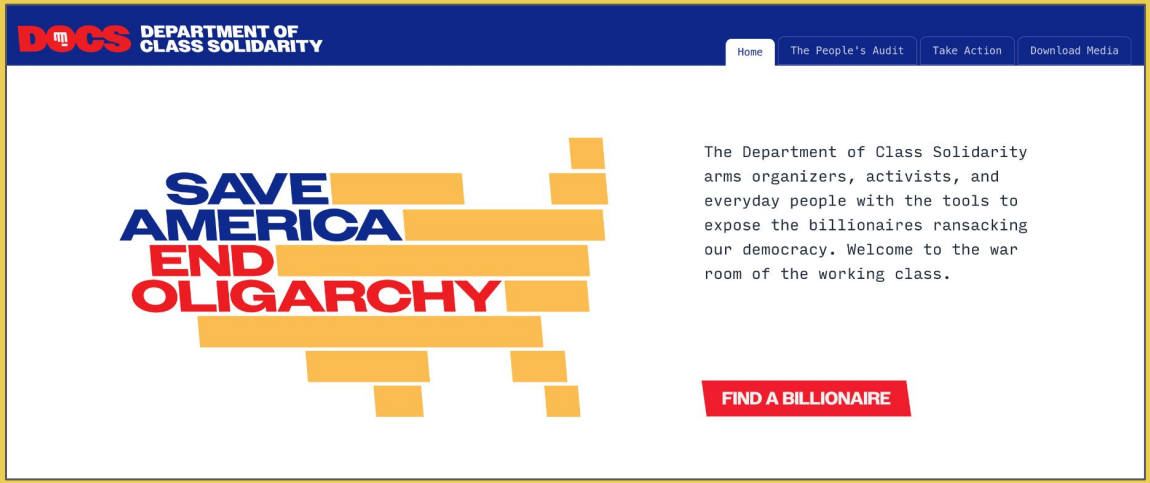

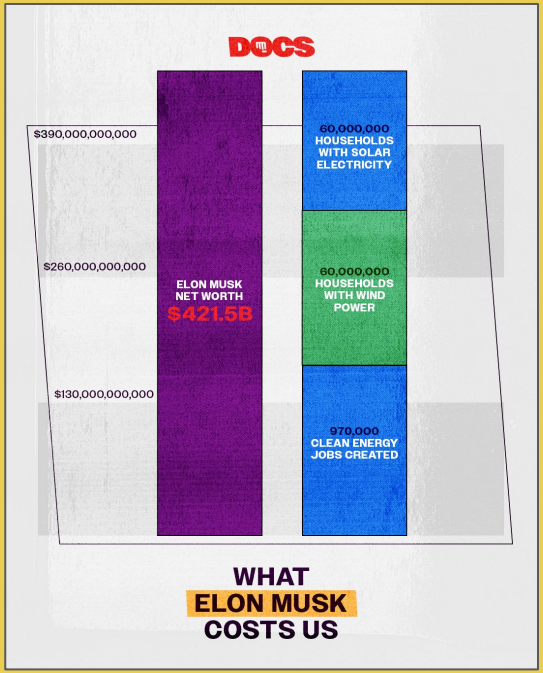

DREAM

BEYOND NYC

Department Of Class Solidarity

As we spread the DREAM's SuperPAC-slaying model model across the country, Greenpill is also working with international labor unions, national activist movements, and immigration justice groups on a parallel national project, the Department of Class Solidarity (DOCS). The project coheres the energy of the Fight Oligarchy Tour, No Kings Day actions, and other anti-billionaire campaigns into a full on Left tea party movement. While DREAM builds from NYC up, DOCS will seize the narrative from the national news on down.

DREAM

THE ENDGAME

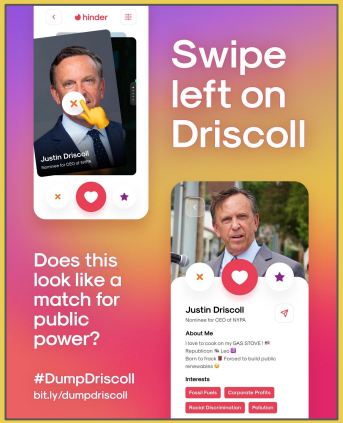

Anti-Billionaire Media Network

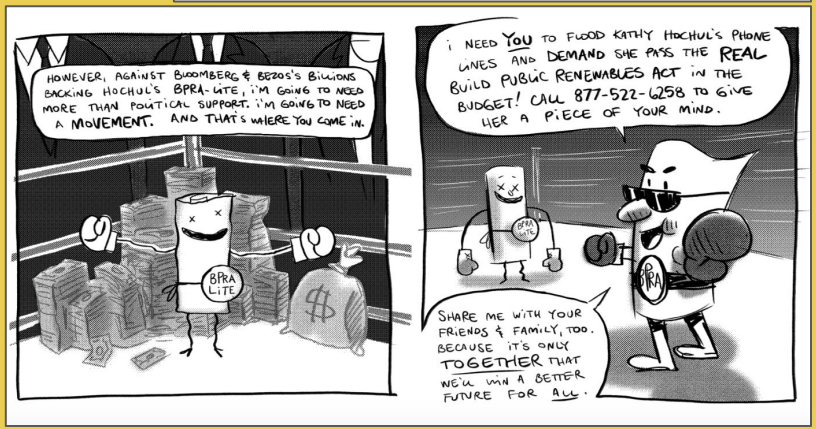

Through DREAM, DOCS, and other projects still under wraps, we are laying the groundwork for something even bigger: a national anti-billionaire media network. As we build towards full-on fight to defeat fascism, the people need our own answer to the right's consent manufacturing machines like the NY Post and Fox News. A Leftist libsoftiktok against the billionaires and for good.

In 2028, we need to the average person talk about the billionaire problem the way they talked about the border in 2024. To know everything wrong is caused by billionaires, and to know the solution is for all of us to fight back.

We can't get started soon enough.

THE MESSAGE

BEAT THE RICH CAMPAIGN

Eric Adams is a corrupt joke. Andrew Cuomo is a grandma killer who lost the primary. And they're both colluding with Donald Trump.

In any other race, they'd be history. But in the 2025 NYC mayoral election, they're still running because billionaires will do anything to stop us from winning a city we can afford, even if it means burning it down.

From manufacturing media scandals to igniting racist panics, they're using Cuomo, Adams, and everybody else they can buy to stop New Yorkers from fulfilling the Mamdani mandate.

So this time, New York's job isn't just to make sure Zohran gets elected. Our job is to crush the billionaires' latest ploy to buy our city, and crush whatever they try next too.

New Yorkers need to know from now on, we have to fight twice as hard as what their billions buy. Winning the war fast, free buses, universal childcare, cheaper groceries, and a rent freeze starts with DREAM: Don't Re-elect Eric or Andrew for Mayor on November 4th. And it continues until New York City is affordable, and New Yorkers have finally won.

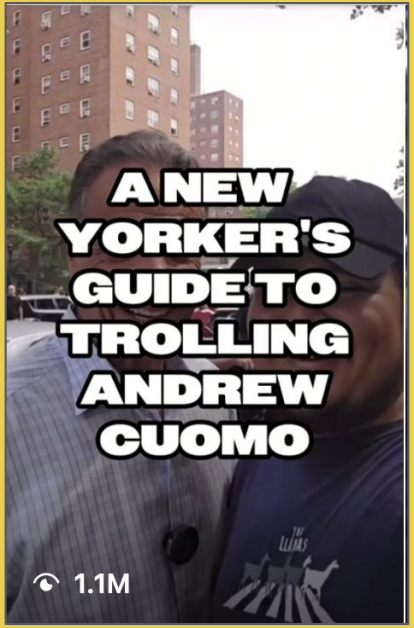

DREAM

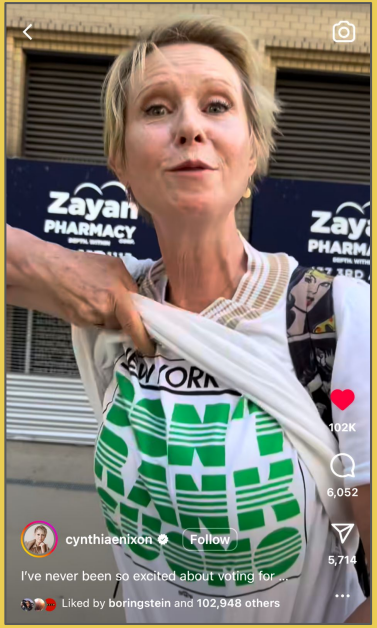

TACTICS

[D][R][E][A][M]

CONTENT CREATORS

We built a hater army. Now we unleash it. The same voices that took DREAM from unconventional new idea to social media saturation are ready take it to the next level. From local trusted community educators to international supermodels, we will bring our anti-billionaire message directly to audiences across the city.

DREAM

MERCH MADNESS

They said it didn't make sense to launch a campaign with merch. By the end of the primary, it took us so far beyond the political bubble, they were selling bootleg DREAM shirts the Coney Island Mermaid Parade.

We've proven New Yorkers are much more likely to spread a message by wearing top-notch campaign merch than they are seeing some formulaic ad. It's not enough to walk around with Zohran shirts–New Yorkers need to spend every day leading up to 2026 physically keeping the flames of hating on Cuomo and Adams burning, and use them to set a full-on anti-billionaire sentiment ablaze.

DREAM

STREET SATURATION

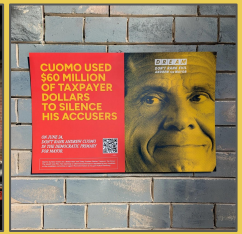

Our stickering, postering, and independent street arts were ubiquitous, independent artists started making their own. The autonomous groups who assembled to distribute them are ready for the next stage: spreading the message until you can't take a step or subway across NYC without knowing that our city is in a war for our future against billionaires, and that it's one everyone can help win.

Anti-Cuomo, anti-Adams ads appear at Brooklyn bus stops

May 14, 2025 Brooklyn Eagle Staff

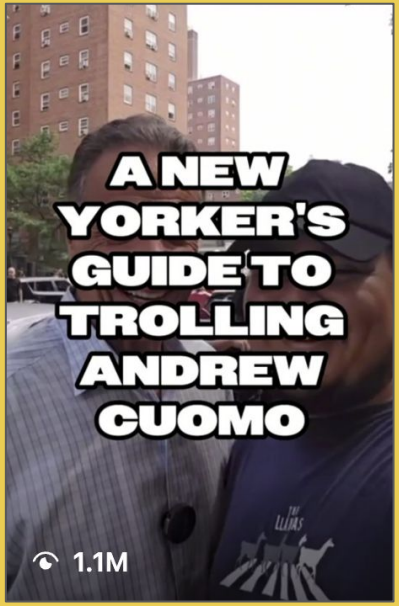

VIRAL VIDEO

Our videos have reached millions, engaged hundreds of thousands, educated tens of thousands, and were shared by the likes of Padma Lakshmi, Laverne Cox, and AOC. We know how to make viral content that breaks out of the political bubble and influences the mainstream. We've already generated the first viral non-Zohran video of the general election, generating over 1.3 million views and 107,000 likes on Instagram - 28 times the number of likes Cuomo has on his top general election video. And we have more in store, including:

No Means No, Cuomo: A video about the importance of consent when 573,169 New Yorkers…and 13 women…tell you "No".

How To Find Corruption: Using infamous Eric Adams 'How to find contraband' PSA focused on all the kickbacks he's received from billionaires and other corrupt figures.

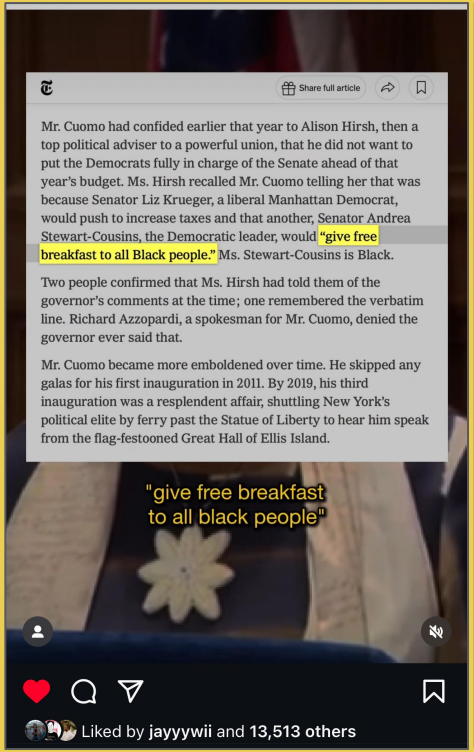

DREAM

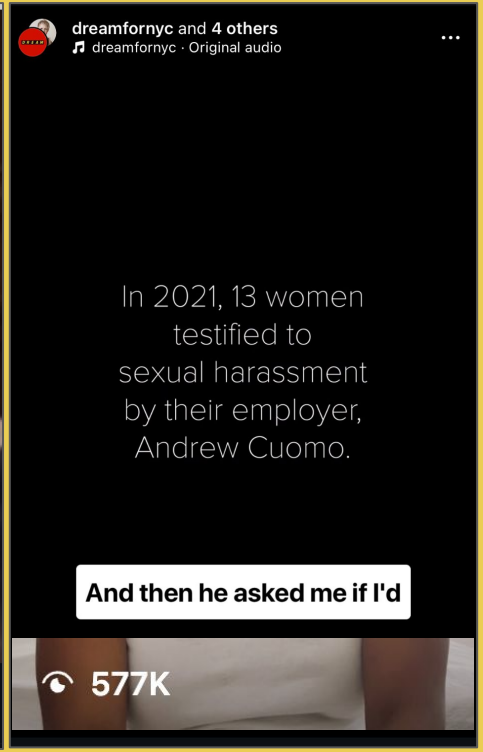

DELIVERING DIGITAL AND TV

In the last week of the primary, we ran specifically crafted digital ads targeting three pro-Cuomo blocks: older voters, Black voters, and older female voters. The returns on this small run were huge, with astronomical 40% full-watch rates.

We will build on this success using the same strategies to spread our narrative to voter blocks not even Zohran could fully reach. Not just on digital, but on TV as well.

A few memorable ads aimed directly at the kind of billionaire or billionaire lackey who thrives behind the scenes will put the oligarchs on notice.

DREAM

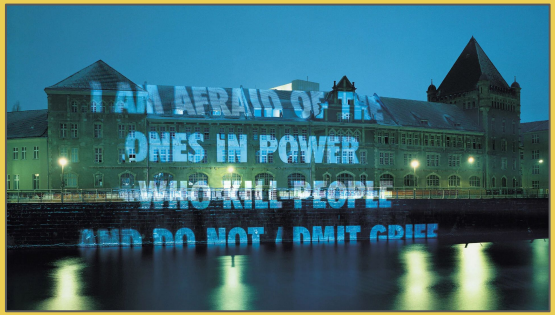

GUERILLA STUNTS

Creative stunts are a time-tested tactic to break through where even digital and traditional media can't. Our stunts have won the press and people over while overcoming politicians at every level of New York politics. We need to bring that same creative disruptive energy to defeat Adams, Cuomo, and the billionaires too.

- Anti-NY Post: Create our own daily front page to disrupt the billionaire-owned news cycle with anti-billionaire, pro-Zohran takes of the news
- Too Many Cops: Fill a subway station with a flash mob in police uniforms to highlight the failure of Adams and Cuomo's security theater and create support for Zohran's Department of Community Safety.
- Federal Plaza Projection: We will weaponize 26 Federal Plaza itself by turning it into a billboard attacking Adams and Cuomo's complicity with Trump

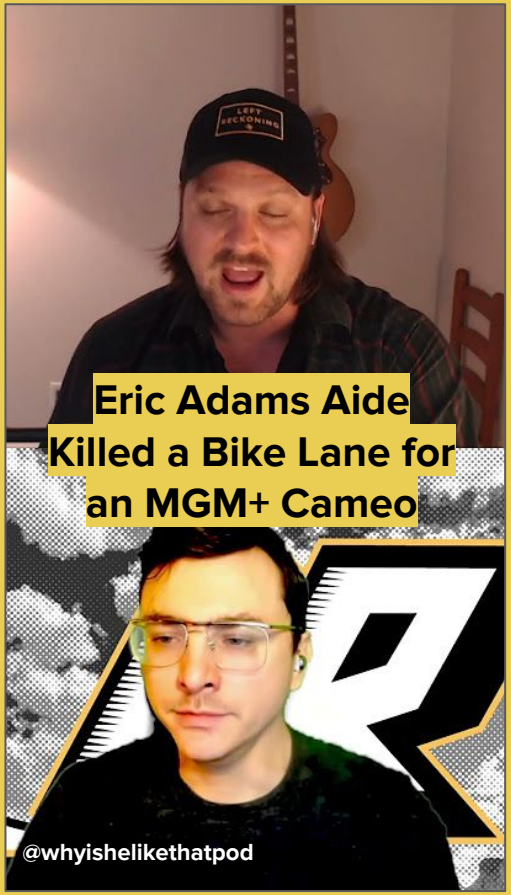

DREAM

POTENT PODCAST

Why Is He Like That?? is a limited series podcast produced by award-winning podcast producer Eric Thurm.

Each episode will focus on one of the more memorable, bizarre Adams moments. Maybe it's his wistful reminiscence about jumping the turnstile to visit a shorty in the Rockaways, his repeated insistence that New York is the Port-au-Prince/Dublin/Zagreb of America, or the infamous video where he teaches parents how to search their kids' rooms.

In response, the host will explain the moment in the context of Adams' life and career—what was happening in New York, and what led him to do this particular strange thing? But they'll also use that as a jumping-off point, a thematic container that allows them to explain the way the moment in question is reflective of Adams' values, the actual policies he's enacted as mayor, and his commitment to corruption. In the process, they'll answer the central question: Why is he like that??

DREAM

LOGISTICS

[D][R][E][A][M]

FUNDRAISING

MINIMUM VIABILITY	TARGET	MAXIMUM HATING
$302,474	$604,294	$1,534,854
The most effective SuperPAC per dollar in US history, scaled up	+ Trashing on TV	+ Twice as much Trashing on TV

DREAM

TIMELINE

PHASE 1	PHASE 2		PHASE 3	PHASE 4
AUG	SEPT	OCT	APR	DEC

Launch - August

- Relaunch for DREAM general (Don’t Re-elect Eric or Andrew For Mayor)
- Launch new merch
- Launch DOCS project

Hone Targets - Sept-Oct

- Tie Cuomo & Adams to billionaires, Trump
- Stunt, video, & influencer rollout spreading NYC vs Billionaires narrative
- Identify main obstacles/figures for further targeting

Manufacture Mandate - Nov

- Launch ads targeting main obstacles identified
- Monitor reach of each channel (merch, stunts, street, digital) and triple down on most effective

Go National - Dec

- Use results to build out DOCS
- Launch anti-billionaire media network

DREAM

ABOUT US

[D][R][E][A][M]

MEET GREENPILL.

We're writers, designers, strategists, and organizers using the power of narrative to seize the media terrain–and win.

Founded by a former New York Post writer and award-winning adman, Greenpill has brought decades of experience in mass public communication and ad campaigns to the world of left politics.

We unseated a 30-year incumbent with the first socialist in the Hudson Valley, beat a million dollar machine in Queens, and passed the first statewide Green New Deal legislation in history. We fought federal battles and the most expensive Congressional primary right here in New York. We've beat opponents who outspent us 4:1, and turned green dreams into New York law.

As organizers, we've forged the kind of bonds that only come from fighting together in the trenches. We count leaders and rank-and-file among New York's progressive and grassroots movements as allies and are in regular contact with media from small indies to the New York Times.

DREAM

WE CAN BEAT ANYONE

THE ONLY LIMIT IS OUR RESOURCES

DREAM

THANK YOU

[D][R][E][A][M]